FAQ

- Are you building a traditional M&A boutique?

No. nachfolge.live is not designed to operate like a traditional M&A boutique with highly manual and people intensive execution. The goal is fully end-to-end automated execution, because that is the only way micro cap deals can be handled in an economically scalable way. In that sense, we are closer to eBay than to a traditional boutique.

- Trust Problem?

We cannot fully replace human advisory. However, our goal is to build such a clear, structured and standardized end to end process that no additional explanations are necessary. That is the standard we want to be measured against.

- Why now?

AI enables scalable M&A automation for the first time while the Silver Tsunami is exponentially increasing the number of succession cases.

- Why does nachfolge.live win?

nachfolge.live professionalizes a highly fragmented and underserved market through automated, high-margin end-to-end execution. The market is a semi Blue Ocean: traditional M&A boutiques generally do not cover micro-cap transactions and usually only become active at the small-cap level. Existing listing platforms such as DUB primarily create visibility, but do not offer an intuitive and fully integrated transaction process.

- Technical moats?

In the long term, pure technical SaaS moats will become increasingly less defensible, except for hardware-heavy or deeply infrastructure-driven business models. The real moat will shift towards execution, distribution, brand, proprietary deal flow and marketing efficiency. For nachfolge.live, the long-term competitive advantage should therefore be built through distribution with Media-for-Equity as a potential scaling lever.

- Who is the buyer?

Succession entrepreneurs, search funds and smaller private equity platforms looking for add ons.

- Who is the seller?

Primarily aging micro cap entrepreneurs with typically up to around €2m EV.

- Where does the data foundation come from?

From structured buyer and seller inputs as well as market and transaction data.

- Target partnerships?

With KfW for attractive succession financing solutions and with media companies for distribution and reach.

- What does revenue look like at €300k EV?

€200 listing fee + 1.5% success fee = €4.7k total revenue.
